

Connie Harris

August 2013

The Line Paintings began in 2012 as a reaction to the fragility of life and my contemplation of moments of time. These lines create patterns, weaves of dimension in simple color relationships.

There is a movement between their placement. And I welcome the search that color unfolds.