

Danielle Mysliwec

Artist Statement

In my recent body of work I have been creating oil paintings that present themselves as woven surfaces that are at once coming together and coming undone. These intricate structures imply time passing methodically between moments of control and spontaneity. The woven texture creates a surface that responds to the changing environment where light and shadow shift, thus shifting the experience of the painting for the viewer on each occasion.